Administrative development: Following German reunification in 1990, the previous districts of Leipzig, Borna and Geithain were merged when the boundaries were redrawn on 1 August 1994 to create the new District of Leipzig. At the same time, the districts of Grimma and Wurzen were joined together to establish the Mulde Valley District. With effect from 1 August 2008, the Rural District of Leipzig and the Mulde Valley District were amalgamated to set up the District of Greater Leipzig.

Our vision

On 2 March 2011, the District Council adopted the District Development Strategy for Greater Leipzig. It comprises a status analysis, a SWOT analysis, the Vision, the Action Strategy and a list of additional measures, all of which provide a basis for action for the local authority.

The Vision is a road map for internal and external use setting out the future goals for Greater Leipzig. It is intended as a source of guidance for planning and decision-making by as many different regional stakeholders as possible. It sets out the strengths of the district which Greater Leipzig can build on – and provides a framework for action by the local authority to promote their growth. The Vision highlights the strategic foundations and priorities for future development by listing key objectives and outlining the ways in which they can be achieved.
